

"Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you. And behold, I am with you always, until the end of the age."

'luminaries'

The weekend of June 11th and 12th, my Relay for Life team "Quest for a Cure" will be selling luminaria bags outside of church after each Mass. The bags can be purchased for $5 each and are placed around the track at the relay on June 24th. They are individually decorated to honor people who have battled cancer or who have lost their battle with the disease. You can choose to purchase them, bring them home to decorate, and then return the following week. I will have a special box displayed at the back of church where you may place them. If you want to pay by check, make checks payable to: American Cancer Society. Thanks, Joyce Clough, Team Captain

From Father's Desk...

Graduation

I am staring at an elaborate "Pontifical" degree hanging on my wall over my cluttered desk: It's my Sacred Theology License issued from the Lateran University in Rome for which I've been waiting for about six years, and it's satisfying to have it framed, and adorning the wall because it represents a lot of work. However, this diploma comes with a good dose of perspective as compared to the others I've earned: I learned long ago that having one doesn't make you all-knowing about the field of study: Nor does it necessarily make you good at applying it to real life. In my parent's home I have a Bachelor of Science Diploma hanging on the wall next to an expired Third Mate's License in the U.S. Merchant Marine: I spent four hard years learning how to navigate an oceangoing ship, and I have the paper to prove it: Nevertheless, at this point, I don't think that I could navigate my way out of the bathtub!

It is, of course, necessary that the hard work continue after the courses are done, and all the papers and exams are finished, and after the graduation ceremony is all wrapped up. Yes, it is a form of "arrival" to graduate from school and get a diploma; but we all know that it is more of a departure point too: Much life and growth awaits as one prepares to apply his/her learning to a job or career. But, it won't be long before there is stagnation if there isn't an effort in the service of constant self-improvement and apprehension of the finer details of the science or art in which one is involved.

So far, this is all obvious to the reasonable person. But it also has its application to the life of Faith: In one respect, we are tempted to divorce our faith from what we do for a living: Unconsciously we act as if work, job and career have nothing to do with living our faith. Quite the opposite, we are summoned by faith to integrate what we do, (inasmuch as it is something good and noble), into our lives of faith. The Vatican Council teaches us that "One of the gravest errors of our time is the dichotomy between the faith which many profess and the practice of their daily lives . . . Let Christians follow the example of Christ who worked as a craftsman; let them be proud of the opportunity to carry out their earthly activity in such a way as to integrate human, domestic, professional, scientific and technical enterprises with religious values, under whose supreme direction all things are ordered to the glory of God."(Pastoral Constitution, Church in the Modern World, #43)

In another respect, ongoing growth and study is not only important for a career in some science or art: It is essential for the life of faith to continue growing toward the Truth . . .the truth about God and the truth about being Human: After all, "The Lord is the goal of human history, the focal point of the desires of history and civilization, the center of humankind, the joy of all hearts, and the fulfillment of all aspirations." (Pastoral Constitution, Church in the Modern World, #45)

Awakening Faith ~Spring 2011

The spring 2011 sessions of Awakening Faith are meeting on Tuesday evenings at 7PM in the parish conference rooms. For more info please email paula@saintjulies.org or phone 508 993 2351 x109. Please pray the Awakening Faith Prayer in support of this outreach endeavor.

Loving God, create in us an ever-growing faith, with hearts open and centered in you. Awaken within us the fire of your Spirit, so that your love may fill us more fully, and flow throughout our lives. Increase within us a desire to reach out, to invite and to share, to welcome and accept. Awaken the faith of all your children, especially those who have grown distant from you, those ready to hear an invitation to the love you alone can bring. Awaken us, loving God, to see the fullness of your grace and peace. We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

RCIA ~ The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults

The RCIA process at St. Julie's parish is a year round process by which adults explore and discern the possibility of full membership in the Catholic Church. Jesus gently invites each person, saying in a special way to those who are searching, "Come, you will see." Is Jesus inviting you or someone you know to become fully initiated in the Catholic faith?

If so contact Paula Raposo, Father Greg, or Deacon Claude for more information .phone 508-993-2351 x109 or email paula@saintjulies.org
